

Gordon Merrick is the Election Administrator III with the Vermont Secretary of State's Election Division. In this role, Gordon is the attorney on staff with the Elections Division managing the Candidate Filing process and the Campaign Finance System. Before joining the Secretary's office, Gordon was working in agriculture policy in Washington, D.C. Gordon is a graduate of Vermont Law School, where his research focused on both agriculture law as well as election law, authoring a Law Review Article "Protecting Participatory Democracy in Vermont: Reforms to Election Structure, Campaign Finance, and Voter Engagement" and an award-winning paper "The Federal Election Commission Toothless Tiger or Sabotaged Slug?"