

Andy Strauss is Licensing Counsel for the Vermont Office of Attorney Licensing. He administers the bar exam twice a year and is the primary liaison and attorney for the Board of Bar Examiners, the Character and Fitness Committee, and Board of Mandatory Continuing Legal Education. He also serves as Screening Counsel, screening disciplinary complaints against attorneys for Vermont's Professional Responsibility Program. Prior to becoming Licensing Counsel in 2017, Andy spent fourteen years as a litigator in Vermont, including three years in private practice and nine years as a Deputy State's Attorney in Chittenden County. Andy lives in Shelburne with his wife, son, two cats, and a dog.